

In this interpretation, I notice some skills to improve upon. I noticed in this interpretation the omissions of pronouns. This made my interpretation unclear at times. Use of pronouns is my main goal going into practicum II. I want my interpretation as clear as I can by using pronouns when warranted. I also noticed I had some other omissions I had. Some of those omissions were conscious strategic while some were unconscious. One example of a conscious strategic omission is when the speaker was discussing the various scientists who had researched this phenomenon. However, I also noticed my use of space that improves from last semester. One example of when I had used my space was the constructed dialogue at the beginning. I had also used space when I was discussing the study in which half of the participants told while the other half did not. I then referred back to that space when it was needed. Overall, I see improvement from practicum I and looking forward to progressing my goals even further in practicum II.
